BIOFACH SAUDI ARABIA

into organic

BIOFACH SAUDI ARABIA will take place from November 11-13 2024,At the Arena. With about 6000 sqm, Exhibition space and 10,000 visitors we expect a flourishing three days in the Saudi capital.

Two special highlights will deal with the topics "water" and "fertilizer". These focus topics address the problems of the local market. Also from a global perspective the water issue as well as the lack of organic fertilizer are increasingly calling for answers. There will be political round tables and expert panels to discuss them.It is the perfect place for trade connections and making contacts.

5 reasons for exhibiting

Organic Hub for the MENA region

BIOFACH SAUDI ARABIA unites more than 15 countries under one roof. This is the hub where the organic community of the entire MENA region meets.

Knowledge platform

At the accompanying conference of BIOFACH SAUDI ARABIA, experts, politicians and international speakers will come together to discuss current market issues. Visitors can participate in seminars, panel discussions and workshops, both on-site and in digitally.

Special Shows WATER & FERTILIZER

Focussing on the most demanding issues of the local market. These topics, which are also becoming increasingly important globally, will be discussed at our special shows. Moreover, our exhibitors will have the opportunity to present the latest product innovations from these segments.

High imports

In the MENA region, 90 – 70 % of food requirements are imported. This offers great opportunities for international trade and business contacts.

Growing market

Shelf space for organic food & beverages has increased by more than 60 % in the past 5 years. Organic and save food is more demanded than ever.

Be part of this development and enter the world of organic products in the MENA region!

Experience the best local delights in the food court and get to know the hippest cafés in Riyadh

Cooking shows and contests for the best local food will demonstrate organic lifestyle in Saudi Arabia.

The show will be accompanied by an extensive conference programme.
